College Careers To End For 39 At Commencement Exercises

DUNN WILL HEAD ROTC

Lt. McGraw To Receive Discharge From Army

Reorganization of Xavier's ROTC teaching staff was disclosed this week when the Military Department announced three changes in the faculty.

Colonel Sidney F. Dunn was appointed to the position of Professor of Military Science and Tactics in place of Lt. Col. John Benson as previously announced. A Field Artillery officer, Col. Dunn is now attending the ROTC orientation course at Ft. Sill, Okla., and will arrive at Xavier late in June to assume command.

Lt. James McGraw, present Xavier ROTC commander, will leave for discharge at Camp Atterbury, Ind., and then continue law studies. A former student at Xavier from 1941 to 1943, he enlisted in the Army in 1943 and was sent to the Field Artillery at Ft. Bragg, N. C. After graduation from Field Artillery Officer Candidate School at Ft. Sill, Okla., Lt. McGraw served 15 months overseas in the Mediterranean and Pacific theaters. Later he was transferred to Xavier's ROTC unit and has served as Asst. Professor of Military Science since January of this year.

Also appointed to the ROTC teaching staff is 1st Lt. Douglas H. Harnish. An Infantry officer, Lt. Harnish will be at Xavier for three months as Asst. Professor of Military Science and Tactics. He served in the Pacific theater and saw action with the paratroops on Los Negros, in the Philippines.

Ten Milford Students Join Xavier Seniors To Receive Bachelor Degree

Weber To Graduate With Summa Cum Laude Honors, Magna Cum Laude Honors Are Earned By Glaser

On June 19, twenty-nine graduates of Xavier University, together with 10 more from the Milford Novitiate, will finally reach the end of their college days, an end some though they never would attain. For twenty of those Avondale graduates had their collegiate careers interrupted by service in the various branches of the armed forces, the majority of them serving overseas in both theaters. But now at last both for these men and the rest of the graduates the end of their work will come when they receive their diplomas in the stadium Wednesday a week.

JACOBS, HANNA TO HEAD NEWS

Members of the Social Committee, as well as members of the NEWS staff, were guests at a dinner given Wednesday evening at Oelsner's Tavern, south of Covington on the Dixie Highway.

It was announced that Bob Jacobs, a junior, would succeed Jim Donovan as Editor in Chief. Jacobs, who is pursuing a Bachelor of Science in Commerce course, has been active in many extra-curricular activities and has been Copy Editor on this year's revival of the paper. Tom Hanna, freshman, succeeds Dick McCarthy as Managing Editor. These are the only major changes in the staff at present, as Mike Gerhardtstein, Charlie Palmer, Stan Price and George Vetter are expected to continue in the editorships they have held this year. The positions of News Editor and, possibly two, Copy Editors will be left vacant until the fall semester.

Fr. Dietz, moderator, gave a short talk in which he thanked Jim Donovan, Dick McCarthy, Larry Foley and Johnny Fischer for their work this year. These four men are seniors and will not be back for the fall edition.

Besides the commencement exercises which will take place at 8:15, the seniors will also attend Mass and receive Holy Communion in a body in Bellarmine Chapel that morning. A speaker for commencement exercises, yet to be named, will give the principal address, with Fr. Steiner, the school president, conferring the diplomas.

Two of the graduates will receive recognition for excellence in their studies. They are Donald J. Glaser, Magna Cum Laude, and Charles T. Weber, Summa Cum Laude.

The ten Jesuit students from Milford Novitiate who will receive their degrees together with the Xavier graduates are, Bachelor of Arts: William J. Ennen, S.J., Bachelor of Literature: Robert E. Beckman, S.J., Robert C. Dressman, S.J., David J. Hassel, S.J., Elmer L. Isenecker, S.J., James L. Magner, S.J., James A. Mohler, S.J., William H. Mouser, S.J., Donald L. O'Shaughnessy, S.J., Glenn F. Williams, S.J.

The graduates from the Avondale campus are: Bachelor of Arts: Joseph A. Luebbbers, Bachelor of Science: George F. Fisher, Raymond H. Hellman, Jr., Paul H. Klingenberg, Robert A. Noll, Frank F. Pillotte, Raymond C. Silbernagel, Joseph H. Stagaman, Richard J. Weber, Richard L. Zettler. Bachelor of Philosophy: James D. Callahan, William W. Nicholson, Jr., Kenneth T. Norris, Raymond C. Pater, Jr., Lawrence E. Rinck, Roman J. Schweikert, and Joseph L. Summe.

Bachelor of Science in Commerce: John J. Fischer, Jr., Donald F. Gutzwiller, William R. Hillebrand, Alvin C. Huckle, Louis T. Loftus, Patrick J. Rackford, George H. Schmidlin, Robert G. Thieman, Theodore O. Thoma, Edward J. Walsh, Donald J. Glaser, and Charles T. Weber.

Xavier Grad And Bride To Live In South Bend

The marriage of Miss Jeanne Woltermann and Mr. Joseph Ackerman, class of '42, was solemnized on Saturday, June 1, at St. Teresa's Church, Southgate, Kentucky.

The groom, who earned Cum Laude honors at Xavier, is doing graduate work at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana. He and his bride will make their home in that city until his studies are completed.

500 Attend Homecoming Festivities At Xavier June 2

Events Attended By Military, Civic, Religious Leaders

Last Sunday, June 2nd, was a BDOC (big day on campus) for Xavier University with close to 5,000 persons attending three impressive events which honored the 3,900 former Xavier students who served in World War II.

Many representatives of religious, military and civic life were in attendance and joined in the services which combined prayers of thanksgiving, a memorial to those who died in the war, and reunion for those who returned.

The Mass of Thanksgiving at the Fieldhouse at 11 a. m. opened the day-long exercises. During the Mass, the Missa Latreutica was performed with a choir and orchestra of 100 members under the direction of Dr. Martin J. Dumler. Archbishop John T. McNicholas, O.P., attended the service as did a large number of the clergy and prominent representatives of the armed service in this area. Mayor Stewart made a belated entrance after having viewed the proceedings from the stands.

The sermon of the Mass of which the Rev. Celestin J. Steiner was the celebrant was preached by Comdr. Joseph T. O'Callahan, famed hero of the carrier Franklin.

For the civic ceremony which followed immediately after the Mass, the altar and sanctuary

MAY FUND DRIVE TOTAL HITS 92.5%

Announcement Of Results Delayed By Homecoming

Richard E. LeBlond, chairman of the Xavier University Fund and Good Will Campaign, disclosed Tuesday evening that the drive has reached 92.5% of its goal during the month of May for a total of $370,000.

This report closes the first year's effort in the drive which is seeking $1,000,000 over a three-year period. "I am more confident than ever that we will reach our ultimate goal," Mr. LeBlond stated in making the report.

The first phase of the drive ended officially on May 31, but the announcement of the results was delayed by the Veterans' Homecoming on the campus during the past week-end which involved a number of drive leaders.

Second Phase

"We are beginning immediately to organize our efforts for the second phase of this campaign," LeBlond announced. "Many individuals and corporations who did not for one reason or another participate in this campaign thus far will be contacted."

President Steiner expressed great satisfaction with the drive effort upon receiving Mr. LeBlond's report. "Xavier is most grateful to the city at large and to the many individuals, regardless of religious faith, who have given generously to our campaign. I join Mr. LeBlond in the prediction that we will reach our ultimate goal now that we have this first phase of our campaign as a pattern for future efforts."

MEN REMEMBER FR. MALONE'S RED HAIR AND FIENDLY SMILE

Biology Professor Enjoys Photography As Hobby

No matter where you go, if you happen to meet an ex-Xavier student the first words you hear are, "Is Fr. Malone still at X?" We will not even attempt to reason why Fr. Malone has such an unparalleled popularity. Maybe it's because of his red hair or because of his almost perpetual good humor, or maybe it's because, as he says himself, he just likes boys. At any rate, the boys like him.

Fr. Malone, the only assistant professor who has headed a Biology department for four years, was born in Cleveland in 1902, one of eight children. He attended St. Ignatius High School in Cleveland and afterwards spent two years at John Carroll University. Father then worked for two years after which he entered the Jesuit order. He followed the usual Jesuit course of studies, teaching at Detroit University as a scholastic. His ordi-

● The Job Has Been Done

WITH THIS issue the Xavier University News closes up shop on Volume XXX. The Editor feels that, no matter what its shortcomings or its good points may have been, the paper has done its job. At the start of the semester Xavier had a student body, but the two were not one; there was a sorry lack of interest in the school outside of the classroom, and we believed that this was due to ignorance of what Xavier is and what she has to offer. Now, there is interest being shown in Xavier as something more than an education factory — in other words, there is school spirit. To arouse this spirit was the job of the News and the job has been done.

Thanks are due, the Editor feels, to every man who did his bit in the making of the paper. The list of all who helped is too long to thank individuals. But there are a few men who, by their unflinching cooperation when things were tough, merit special gratitude. Dick McCarthy, an outstanding workman, is one of these; Tom Hanna, hardworking and possessed of imagination, is another; Mike Gerhardtstein, who has cheerfully done everything asked of him and more, is another; Bob Jacobs, who in his quiet way has been as fine a copy editor as any college paper ever boasted, is yet another, and last, but not least, Charlie Palmer and his assistant, Charles Geraci, capable and diligent sports editors.

This year's Student Council has also merited considerable thanks for its work on extra-curricular activities. Every man on the Council has been active but the Editor would like to single out some whose work has been largely unheralded. These are: Charles Weber, Johnnie Fischer, Larry Foley and Jim Poland, who have all shown real Xavier spirit.

Some Facts About Hungry Europe

Jesuit Fathers' Reports Give Gripping Picture Of Sufferings Of The Starving Millions In Many European Nations

History Of X's Treasurer

The office of the treasurer at any university is always a very busy department, and Xavier, with its full peace-time enrollment, is no exception. Holding down this key position here at Xavier is the Reverend Aloysius A. Breen, S.J.

Fr. Breen was born September 1, 1867, in Chicago, Illinois. He attended parochial and private schools in the "Windy City" before journeying to St. Louis University for his A.B. and M.A. degrees. Completing this phase of his education, Father entered the Jesuit Novitiate at Florissant, Missouri, on August 11, 1890.

After his ordination, Fr. Breen held many important positions at various Catholic establishments throughout the country. He served as President of St. Mary's College in Kansas from 1906 to 1914; Rockhurst College, Kansas City, 1914 to 1919; Managing Editor, Queen's Work Magazine, 1920 to 1926; President, Regis College, Denver, Colorado, 1926 to 1931; Treasurer of Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio, since 1933.

In July, 1941, Father Breen and his two brothers, Father Francis Breen, S.J., and Father Paul Breen, S.J., celebrated their Golden Jubilees in the Society of Jesus.

Fr. Malone may always be found at any time of the day up in his office putting around between skeletons, skulls and all sorts of bugs and animals. Usually one finds a big white rat sitting on his sleeve waiting for its execution. Father is never happier than when his 'boys' are up in the lab putting around, too. The earlier they come and the later they stay, the better he likes it.

At Xavier Fr. Malone teaches Zoology, Comparative Anatomy, and Embryology. He also teaches courses in Marriage and the Family. But he really doesn't teach any of these, he teaches Xavier boys.

Thanks For Stamps

Mrs. Thinner, the switchboard operator in Hinkle Hall, wishes to thank everyone who gave tax stamps to her during the past two months. She asks, however, that she not be forgotten during the summer months.

The tax stamps which are contributed are turned back to the government and the money gained therefrom is used for minor repairs in Hinkle Hall.

Good Scents

By NOBODY NOSE

The Homecoming was just too great an affair for our writing talents. What with exams coming up before the effects of the last week end have worn off the student body will not be perking up before the end of the summer.

We saw BOB RYAN leaning on a lamppost in Bond Hill Saturday night. CHARLEY WEBER is proudly showing off his five dollar tag, a gift from a member of the mobile police. JOHN GIESER is quite an authority on the French nobility.

Our ice bucket was raided by JAKE DALEY at the Homecoming dance.

VICK CRAMER is realizing his life-long ambition by memorizing a complete Standard Webster. The sight of BILL GROGAN busy with his accounting depressed us until we saw JIM BARBARA asleep on one of the shelves in the library.

We are told that beautiful Mary O. is doing JACK CASSON'S homework for him. BOB JACOBS mounted the Special Ethics rostrum and orated on the nature of self-defense. Real convincing, too.

This is JACK OVERBECK'S week to be king. WHISKERS SCHMIDLIN, in an unguarded moment, smiled at his date. We saw this at the Homecoming. AL HUCKE, BILL HILLENBRAND and LARRY RINCK are having passport trouble again. They don't think they will be able to come into the city to take the finals.

The dorm spy reports that JACK DOWNES told a joke, much to the surprise of his friends. Also the Elet clan regrets that BUD VALENS did not know the rail strike was settled.

TOM LINNEMAN, PETE MARINO, BOB PULESKI, GEORGE FISHER, LOU ROLFUS, BOB LUTZ, CHARLEY GERACI and POY WONG claim they should have made the paper last week also since they are just as Irish as CHARLEY KNEFLIN.

AL GILDAY was seen twisting the neck of JAY ALBERS on Thursday. Keep it up, Al. If you have nothing else to do at noon go and hear JACK BECHTOLD play My Wild Irish Rose on the piano.

This is the last effort on our part to drum up this corner. Who will write it in the fall? Nobody Nose.

ECONOMY AT XAVIER

Xavier's economy of operation makes the educational dollars go farther. The Jesuit professors and administrators, who have dedicated their lives to their work, receive no salaries. Thus, they make an equivalent contribution each year aggregating $85,000, or the income on a $2,500,000 endowment.

Xavier gave seven of her faculty to the Armed Forces.

The Year In Review

In Which Our Star Reporter, J. Hairy Mutt, Looks Over The Doings of The Past 3 Months

March 1 — After a month of hard work spent in reorganizing the first edition of of the post-war Xavier University News appeared. Jim Donovan became the first editor. A volunteer staff assisted him.

March 8 — Registration at Xavier nears an all-time record. The approximate number of students was 535. James Poland was chosen to speak at the Regional Conference of the N.F.C. C.S. at Our Lady of Cincinnati college. Poland was elected president at this meeting.

March 15 — All the Irish at Xavier were making big plans for St. Pat's day.

March 22 — The first meeting of the Dad's Club in over three years was held in the Union House. Six former X.U. men graduated from the University of Cincinnati Medical School with high honors.

March 29 — The editors and reporters of the NEWS began scouting for a fast turtle for the U. of Detroit "Turtle Trudge." Lou Arata paced X.U.'s pistol team to a well-earned victory over Eastern Kentucky.

April 5 — The new coach, Phil Bucklew, arrived at Xavier and was welcomed enthusiastically by the students at a rally.

April 12 — Prom date set for May 17 with two orchestras to play at dance. Bob Jacobs was elected "Host" by Mermaid Tavern. Several new professors were named for the new Graduate School which is to open June 24.

April 26 — James Donovan and Jeanne Buschmiller were chosen as the King and Queen of the Junior Prom. Xavier men were torn between loyalty for the dances of Mt. St. Joe and O.L.C. They compromise and go to both.

May 3 — The deepest symphathies were expressed by all Xavier men on the death of Fr. Steiner's mother. Two hundred people attended the kick-off dinner held at the Union House. The dinner was given as the launching of the new building drive.

May 10 — The Student Council finally decided to get together and hold a dance at Xavier. It went big, too. Some crazy person had an interview with a dog. (With all due respect, he was forced into this assignment.)

May 17 — The big day arrived and Xavier had its Junior Prom. All committee men could be found rushing around in a state of frenzy laying last minute plans. Saturday morning everyone including Jim Callahan was in a state of collapse. Donovan was caught an hour before the prom pleading with someone to teach him how to waltz. He could Jitterbug though. In an interview, Mon. Fulton J. Sheen expressed his opinion on the final corporation of unions.

May 24 — Xavier was honored by a visit from the Chinese Cardinal Tien. The cardinal gave his address in Latin. Very interesting. Hmm. The evening division prepared for its 1946 Booster Ball. The Student Council held another dance in the Blue Room. In the opinion of the faculty members, the Veterans were given a higher rating as students than the non-Veterans. The "X" Choral Club held its annual concert with a capacity crowd. It was one of the best concerts ever given by Xavier.

May 31 — Gala preparations for the Xavier Homecoming. Commander Timothy O'Callahan, Chaplain, served as principal speaker.

June 7 — La omedia E'Finita.

Aided greatly by Bob Janning's four hit pitching, the Scrappers broke a three game winning streak of the Comets, and moved to within a half-game of the first-place Kings in the final week of competition in the Intramural Baseball League. The winners found Bob Cunningham's offerings to their liking and knocked out ten hits, with Larry Foley, Tom Luken and Harold Schmidlin collecting two apiece.

The Comets defence fell apart in the second inning and the Scrappers took advantage of the break to score four times. With men on first and second, Ralph Sutton let Marino's single go through him on the same play, Cunningham threw wild to second base allowing three men to cross the plate. As a result of their defeat, the Comets were eliminated from the title race and the end of the week will bring the championship to either the Kings of Swat or the Scrappers.

Pal Joey: Joe Discepoli
To Enroll At X In Fall

Writer Who Boxed Him
At Fenwick Tells Of Joey

By PAUL ERNST

Perhaps you have heard of the five-foot six-inch blond Italian boxer, Joey Discepoli, who has cut quite a niche for himself in amateur boxing circles in Cincinnati. His popularity and pleasing style in the ring as an amateur permitted him to turn pro as the highest paid prelim boy in the city. Next fall, this ex-Marine will enter Xavier to pursue a course in Phys. Ed.

Joey's rise to fame has been slow but steady. He started boxing seven years ago for the Fenwick Club while a freshman at Roger Bacon High. He was only a 112 pounder at that time but his boxing skill was evident from the beginning when he won the city flyweight championship. The following year he captured the city and state bantam titles; the next year, the city and state featherweight championships. Joey then entered the Marines and walked away with the Marfair West Coast lightweight title, a coveted Marine service title. After being shipped overseas, he fought many times in the Pacific area and only lost one bout, that to Jack Robinson, the Pacific Area champ.

This year, Joey, while still in the Marines, captured the North and South Carolina State championships. He then went to Boston Gardens to win his most cherished title ... the National A.A.U. lightweight championship.

In seven years of fighting Joey has had fifty-nine amateur fights and has won nine championships in four divisions. To date, he has had one pro fight which he won on a third-round k. o.

Unorthodox Style

Joey has an unorthodox style in the ring and his fourteen knockouts in sixty matches prove that he must rely on boxing dexterity rather than a punch to win his fights.

Joey expressed his enthusiasm over a desire, if possible, to help train a boxing squad for Xavier. With such able assistance, Xavier could most certainly make an excellent showing in inter-collegiate squared circles.

There just isn't any sport like boxing, Joe declares. If you speak to him, you'll realize what he means. He lives the game and hopes to gain a full knowledge of the sport eventually. He said that should anything interrupt his ring career, he hoped to be able to fall back on his college education.

Uses His Head

We can easily see why Joey has risen to such heights in the boxing game; he knows how to use his head.

When asked why he chose Xavier, Joey replied: "I picked Xavier because I believe that religion in education is important."

I'm sure that Xavier is behind Joey as solidly as he is behind Xavier.

Thinking It
Over

With Charlie Palmer

Well, the end of the semester is just around the corner and exams are creeping close. Some of the boys are even taking time off from the baseball diamond and tennis courts to work in a little study. Who said this generation wasn't of a serious nature? And although it is the time of the year for hard study it is also the time to look back over the school year in sports.

The Year Past

At Xavier the past year marked the beginning of a new era in athletics. The wartime drought in sports was ended and the campus resounded with the cheers in the fieldhouse and the thud of the pigskin. Last fall was rather sad to the Xavier man who had to travel over to Nippert Stadium for a football game, or watch a high school contest at his own Corcoran Field. But in the spring the football fan was pacified as he watched Marino, Janning, Donadio, Ense, and company go through their spring paces, and thought of the fall of '46.

Basketball

The basketball fan had plenty to keep him occupied. Although

Tennis And Golf
Teams End Season

Things Look Bright For Future Despite Reverses

The Xavier tennis and golf teams have completed their seasons. The tennis season ended two weeks ago with a 5-2 loss to Earlham College. Although the team was unsuccessful as far as wins and losses are concerned, it was successful in bringing tennis back on the Xavier campus as an intercollegiate sport. Coach Jack Jeffre is to be congratulated on his first coaching venture which was conducted under great handicaps. The following members of the team are also to be offered congratulations for their fine play. They are, Norb Amorini, "Bits" Dowling, Bob Steinkamp, Charlie Palmer, Carlos LaPuente, Bill Ahlrichs, and Jay Albers. It is hoped that in the future the tennis program at Xavier will be expanded, and the school will be able to assume leadership in local collegiate play.

Last Match

The golf team under the direction of the Rev. Franklin Fischer, S.J., played its last match Friday afternoon against the University of Kentucky at Makatewah Country Club. The result was a 18½-8½ defeat for the Muskies. Medalist honors went to McMullen of Kentucky who shot a 76. Top man for the Xavier was George Evans with a 78. The scores of the other Musketeers were, Geo. Vollman, 79, Bob Reder and Ray Pater 83's, and Leo Vollman and Jack Clines 84's.

Golf is another sport that was brought back on the campus after an absence of many years. It was a good inaugural season with the boys giving a fine account of themselves, despite the fact that most of them had had a layoff of several years. The interest shown by the students is a good indication that minor sports are as greatly appreciated in the small university as in the large schools.

TOKYO SCENE OF X REUNION

A letter received from Lt. Robert E. McCarthy, a former Xavier University student now serving with the Armed Forces near Tokyo, by his mother, Mrs. L. F. McCarthy, 661 Stanley Ave., tells of the reunion of six Xavier men at an international gathering of students of Jesuit Universities at Sophia University, Jesuit University in Tokyo.

Four of the Xavier men who were present for the celebration are Jerome J. Holtkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Holtkamp, 3221 Wold Ave.; Robert F. Kemphues, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Kemphues, 2519 Stratford Ave.; John P. Sheetz, son of Mrs. Mary Sheetz of Chicago, Ill., and Robert E. McCarthy, writer of the letter. Two other Xavier men, whose names were not mentioned in the letter, were present.

Almost all of the Jesuit Colleges and Universities of the United States were represented at the celebration. Xavier University with six representatives ranked second highest in attendance. Fordham University, New York City, was first with 14.

Lt. McCarthy who has had 15 months overseas service is a former Cadet of the Xavier Reserve Officers' Training Corps Unit. At present he is with a Field Artillery Unit near Tokyo and hopes to return to the United States about June.

Jesuits Stand Dachau Ordeal

During the last twelve months of the war, Dachau was the home of an organized community of 73 Jesuit prisoners (German, Polish, Czech, Belgian, French, and Dutch) with an officially appointed superior, Father de Coninck of Brussels.

Father Regout, professor of international law at the University of Nijmegen, was seized by the Nazis in July 1940, transported to Berlin, and locked for almost a year in an underground cell. He was the first Dutch priest sent to Dachau. His death, hastened by brutal treatment, occurred on December 28, 1942, after he had secretly received the sacraments.

pared through the ROTC Unit. The veterans and their wives were guests of the Alumni Association at a chicken buffet luncheon served at the Fieldhouse after the service.

A colorful memorial service to honor the deceased veterans was conducted at the outdoor Memorial Shrine at 4 p. m. and was attended by a large gathering.

Chaplain O'Callahan celebrated the Benediction and Fr. Steiner spoke. At the conclusion of his address, Father Steiner read the names of 75 former regular students and the 59 air students who gave their lives and whose names appear on the bronze plaques at the shrine.

A dance and reception was held in the Fieldhouse at 9 p. m. and Vic Atkins and his tribe shook the rafters with some of the sweetest and hottest music heard this side of the Xavier Prom. The Fieldhouse was converted from a chapel in the morning to a night club in the evening, with colored lights and sultry atmosphere and everything which goes towards making a dance an enjoyable success. The dance was attended by a large crowd of happy Xavierites and friends and families of Xavierites, and as the old cliché goes, "A good time was had by all."

XU As An Asset To Cincy

Through the great generosity of her private benefactors and the energy and determination of her administrators, Xavier has built an institution (present value $1,500,000) that is a cultural and business asset in Cincinnati.

Xavier Energy

Xavier is a public institution in the best sense of the word. While receiving not one cent from taxes, levies, assessments, or any other public fund, Xavier has devoted its entire energies to the best interests of the community and the nation.

There are 525 full-time male students (75% returned veterans) enrolled in the course on the Evanston Campus.
